

Britain's Anti-Aircraft Forces Are Called Out

LONDON, Sept. 26.—War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha today called out officers and men of the anti-aircraft and coast defence units of the British territorial army. This is a reserve force charged with manning all anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and air defences. All regular Royal Air Force men on leave and Royal Air Force observation corps also were called. Authorities stressed that both measures were purely precautionary and did not constitute mobilization. They came after an envoy had hurried to Germany by airplane with a Franco-British message for Chancellor Hitler and after Prime Minister Chamberlain had summoned parliament to meet on Wednesday.

DUCE PROPOSES LEAVE CZECHS TO THEIR FATE

Mussolini Says Britain and France Can Save Europe

From War

By RICHARD MASSICK

Associated Press Foreign Staff

VERONA, Italy, Sept. 26.—President Mussolini today advised France and Great Britain to save Europe from war by leaving Czechoslovakia to her fate.

He suggested in a speech before 47,000 Fascists that war might thus be entirely averted, since Czechoslovakia perhaps would recognize the futility of fighting Germany alone.

"The German memorandum does not deviate from the line which was approved at the London meeting," he declared, referring to Chancellor Hitler's, Goebbels memorandum and the Anglo-French proposals previously submitted to the Prague government.

"There are still several days to reach a peaceful solution," he said. "If this is not achieved, it is almost beyond human power to prevent a conflict."

"It is useless for diplomats to try to make Versailles," he asserted. "The Europe which was constructed at Versailles—very often by English colonial ignorance—has brought us to this point."

RUSSIAN ENVOY HAS CLUB OVER ANGLO-FRENCH

Threatens Exposure of Secret Diplomacy Before League Nations

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Maxim Litvinoff for Soviet Russia Sunday advised British officials that they would appeal to the League of Nations if Great Britain failed to make Czechoslovakia submit to any further concessions to Germany.

A Russian diplomat said the effect of such a move would be to force both Britain and France "to wash their diplomatic line in public."

Such an appeal, the Russian said, would be under Article XVII of the League of Nations which says "Any war or threat of war is a matter of concern for the whole League." The article also provides the League "shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

Chian also chose the weekend to discuss part of her diplomatic strategy. Her plans were aimed first at getting the League to ask its members to ban shipment of armaments and oil to Japan.

Fuehrer Tells World He Will Not Give Up His Present Claims in Czechoslovakia

—Declares He Will Not Yield

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Adolf Hitler declared tonight that "I have decided that we shall place" the Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia "under German sovereignty," and added that if President Benes "does not want peace we will have to take matters into our own hands."

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British government announced tonight Great Britain and Russia would join France in a triple fight to aid Czechoslovakia in the event of a German invasion of Czechoslovakia.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Germany and Italy "will stand together and be able to defend themselves as a solid bloc if the worst comes to the worst," Adolf Hitler tonight told a world waiting for his word as to whether there would be war or peace.

The leader of Germany declared in a throng in the huge sportsplatz that his demands on Czechoslovakia were "the last territorial claim I have to make in Europe," but added ominously this was "a claim I will not give up."

As the Fuehrer reached this part of his address "to the entire Reich" on the European crisis, his voice rose to a higher pitch and his words came faster.

WANTED PEACE

He declared, "I wanted to secure durable peace with Britain," but then voiced his dissatisfaction with the Anglo-German naval treaty limiting German seapower.

He said he saw no reason why France and Germany could not "live peacefully side by side."

"We want nothing from France," he added ominously this was "a claim I will not give up."

On the Sudeten issue, the Fuehrer declared in a cheering throng in the huge sportsplatz, "We now stand confronted with the last and final problem, which has to be solved and will be solved."

His declaration followed a review of his relations with the principal European powers, in the course of which he voiced his dissatisfaction with the 1935 naval treaty with Great Britain, limiting Germany's naval power.

Earlier he had told his countrymen that Germany had "an armed force the like of which the world has never seen."

The Fuehrer began his anxiously awaited address "to the entire Reich" in the huge sportsplatz at 8:21 p.m. (22:21 M.S.T.) and launched almost immediately into a series of attacks on the British and French.

OFFERED DISARMAMENT

He declared that originally he had offered the other nations "general disarmament," to the last machine-gun, but that they had refused.

"I offered the world to do without armaments," he said. "When they rejected this, I decided to arm."

"I have created an unparalleled modern army with the most modern weapons was established."

"I have created an unparalleled modern army with the most modern weapons was established."

If And When —?

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Anthony Eden, former British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in recent months has earned for himself the nickname of the Blondin of the political world. Blondin was the Frenchman who made fame for himself in 1859 by walking a tight-rope across Niagara Falls. As never before in modern days, Eden has been walking a very thin tight-rope over the whirling waters of world politics. Life has been one step after another for him.

London Civil Folk Don Masks; 1,500,000 Poilus Mobilized For Warfare

Men Mustered Along Heavily Fortified Positions Swiftest in History—Result of 20 Years' Planning by Master Military Minds

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The ministry of public works "because of circumstances" today called upon all persons who were ready to do so to evacuate Paris by rail.

By RALPH HEINZEN

British United Press, Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—France put 1,500,000 men under arms along the 400-mile Maginot line today, manning every gun from the English Channel to the Swiss border. The mobilization was one of the swiftest in French history and was carried out according to careful plans drawn up by the master minds of the general staff, who worked 20 years in perfecting the plan. The government stated provision was made for the evacuation of the Paris civil population by railroad. Five thousand district chiefs were appointed to aid the populace "the minute war is declared."

Forty-three thousand "bomproof" cellars are ready for occupancy. Paris was "hooded" street lights tonight for the first time, the upper part covered, the light is thrown directly on the street.

Plan For Evacuation Within 72 Hours

By HARRY PERCY

British United Press, Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Britain prepared for war tonight with the utmost speed as Prime Minister Chamberlain strove to preserve peace. Plans were completed for the evacuation, if necessary, of London within 72 hours. The fighting forces are on the alert and every man of the territorial is under orders to stand by.

London rapidly is taking on the appearance of a city under siege with sandbags piled up around government buildings in Whitehall and the streets burrowed with air-raid shelters.

60,000 School Children Will Be First Saved

The first of 3,000,000 Londoners to be removed under the evacuation plans would be 60,000 school children and hospital patients.

More than 5,000 persons today besieged 20 government centres in Camberwell to obtain gas-mask fittings. Lanes outside centres sometimes were 300 yards long. In connection with evacuation plans, hundreds have been working day and night to load provision trains with food supplies. Other crews have loaded military supply trains in London.

Into supply trains went tons upon tons of bulky beef.

Repulse Sails For Unnamed Destination

At Portsmouth the battle cruiser Repulse sailed unexpectedly, without disclosure of her destination. It is believed the Repulse was headed for the North Sea to join the home fleet in manoeuvres.

Posters throughout London advised civilians to obtain gas-masks. The same information was thrown on screens of hundreds of theatres, and loudspeaker vans in the streets blared directions. Police cars patrolled the City, urging that everyone get fitted for gas-masks immediately. Officials estimated that 40,000,000 gas-masks are available.

By ROBERT BELLHARRIS

British United Press, Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26.—The Seaforth Highlanders, on duty in the British defence sector of the international settlement since early in the Sino-Japanese war, were ordered to Hong Kong today "in four hours' time." The movement is believed a part of the British plan to remove the bulk of British forces in China to Hong Kong as they would not be in danger of being surrounded by a superior Japanese force.

British Government Considers Developing Turner Valley Oil Field

PIPELINE TO VANCOUVER IS CONTEMPLATED

Albertans Ready to Co-Operate With Britain—German Not Considered

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British government is giving consideration to comprehensive plans for development of the Turner Valley oilfield in southern Alberta, which include construction of a pipeline to Vancouver, it was learned last night.

It was understood no decisions had been made although the scheme is being viewed from every angle by admiralty officials. The oil would be used for naval purposes.

The Canadian government has no direct connection with the plan, it was understood, although it probably has been acquainted with the details.

Development of the oilfield would come within Britain's vast rearmament scheme, which already extends to Canada in the construction of bombing planes.

Hitler's Note Handed to Chamberlain Disclosed—Wants Czechs to Vacate Sudeanland Empty Handed and Leave Everything Nothing Destroyed

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Following is the text of Chancellor Hitler's memorandum to Prime Minister Chamberlain at Godesberg for transmission to the Czechoslovak government, as disclosed by authoritative sources in London:

Reports increasing in number from the hour regarding incidents in Sudetenland show the situation has become completely intolerable for the Sudeten German people and constitutes a danger to the peace of Europe.

It is therefore essential that the separation of Sudetenland agreed to by the Czechoslovak government should be effected without any further delay.

MAPS OUT AREAS
On the attached map the Sudeten German area which is to be ceded is shaded in red. Areas in which a plebiscite is also to be held are shaded in blue.

The final delimitation of the frontier must correspond to the wishes of those concerned. In order to determine these wishes a certain period is necessary for preparation of the plebiscite district.

A situation of parity must be created in the area of the frontier. The area of the frontier must be created in the area of the frontier.

BRITISH PRESS WEIGHS ISSUES OF PEACE, WAR

Ultimatum Is Challenge To Liberty, Yorkshire Post Says

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British press today weighed the serious issues of peace or war in the light of the new German demands on Czechoslovakia.

"What we have to confront," declared the Yorkshire Post, "is not only an ultimatum in European democracy but a challenge to our liberties, our concept of civilized society, and our belief in the future of our life."

These things must perish as the Nazi war may run in Europe.

To so gross a violation of the principles of this country have and can have, but one united answer. Civilization, no less, is at stake."

NO GUARANTEE
The Liverpool Post (Liberal) said: "The German terms afford no guarantee of peace."

They contain no suggestion of a guarantee that they are at the end of the German demands and that the Czechs have no more to fear.

Requisitioning of trucks and private cars at Oxford, Brussels and Tournai caused the alarm among the people.

Prague Blackened Out As Czech Capital Guards Against Any Air Raids

PRAGUE, Sept. 26.—Czechoslovakia's capital last night was the darkest in Europe—blackened out against any foreign air raid.

Street cars crawled along with only a few lights visible in the usual twilight. Within dozens of the capital's old houses there were no lights at all. Blue lanterns stood at some down-town street corners.

At some points the blue lanterns could not be seen from an altitude of a few hundred metres, so any aircraft seeking Prague might waste much of their time blundering over the Bohemian countryside.

Despite the darkness many people were abroad. In the streets pedestrians bumped into one another, but there was no complaint.

No one expected a war last night. The Czech optimism is still the outstanding characteristic of these people. But the new premier, General Jan Benes, and President Eduard Benes have insisted that the Czechs must be ready for any eventuality.

So troops were on the border, hundreds of thousands of men called up in mobilization, and Prague along with other cities was dark.

Telegrams were requisitioned for transport of officers and men in the virtually complete mobilization. No filling stations were open; there was conservation of gasoline. Trains were pooled.

Some international trains were not crossing the borders. Arriving at a frontier, a train would stop. Passengers wishing to go on had to carry their own baggage and cross the frontier alone.

A group of 44 United States citizens, fearful of crossing the frontier at Bregenz in Austria, returned to Prague. They had heard rumors they would be placed in German concentration camps.

Credit Houses To Open Sept. 30—Aberhart

LOCATIONS OF SIX BRANCHES ARE CHOSEN

Celebrations Planned At New Purchasing Power Made Available

James, M.L.A. for Acadia, the Social Credit branch under R. A. Bullock and others.

Replying to a question by Mr. Kennedy regarding subjective and benefits that are intended by the "new movement," the premier, in further explanation of the interim program, declared that "it really is the second great step in the movement that was supported by the people in the last provincial election. Our first triumph has been taken. We are now moving to the second."

"In the first place we have delivered the province as a whole from the grip of the financiers by getting in the place where we can get along without borrowing. As time goes on we shall be able to start reducing our provincial debt, to get along not only without having to borrow but we hope soon to start reducing our provincial debt."

LIFTING LOAD IS PROBLEM

"Our next problem is to lift the load from the back of our people. We have saved a little by our debt legislation and our endeavor to reduce the cost to live and also to increase the purchasing power in the hands of our consumers. If our present interim program succeeds we shall be able to take the third and final step then."

Mr. Kennedy: "This is most interesting. How will this interim program accomplish these results?"

Premier Aberhart replied that "in a manner somewhat similar to the Credit Union set-up in the past, Treasury branches and agencies will be set up in many points in the province. This will enable the people by co-operation to gain the advantage of their combined financial strength as well as that their combined credit power. They will be able to use the deposit and withdrawal facilities while at the same time they produce the benefits that come from association on a large scale."

"In the first place these branches and agencies will handle the credit which we are issuing in the building of roads in many of the provinces and in many of the cities where little road work has been granted in the past. The credit is being used on a basis of one to two cents of credit which will help the people with groceries, clothes, lumber, etc. and two to apply on the unpaid tax arrears."

Mr. James: "That will work in two ways—in first providing additional purchasing power to many in need and secondly by removing the burden of tax debt from the back of the people."

BETTER ROADS
Mr. Kennedy: "And at the same time the people will have the better roads to enjoy, which will assist them in many ways."

Mr. Aberhart: "In the second place, we are establishing a scheme of increasing the purchasing power by granting a bonus of goods to those who are in the province and who are Alberta-made goods. Anyone who knows the difficulty and extent of our Alberta-made goods will soon see what a boon that will be to our manufacturers and producers."

Mr. James: "That again will do two things. First it will increase the purchasing power of the consumer and secondly it will boost the sale of our Alberta-made goods."

Mr. Kennedy: "And boosting the sale of our Alberta-made goods will stimulate more industries in the province and will give more work which means more purchasing power in the hands of the consumer."

Mr. Aberhart: "But how are you going to be able to pay a bonus of one cent to three per cent of where all the money come from?"

Mr. Aberhart: "In lieu of paying interest outside institutions amounting to at least three per cent and often to more than that, the new program provides this amount will go to our own people in the form of a bonus and hence dependent upon the increased circulation of our goods and the bonus in part at least will be covered by the exchange of our own goods instead of by money transactions. We have made full provision for this."

Mr. Kennedy: "You will be having a suitable celebration on the opening of the treasury branches. Will you not?" This really marks another step in the progress toward economic deliverance and the people should be given a chance to express their satisfaction."

SUITABLE CEREMONIES
Mr. Aberhart: "Yes, we have thought of that. For this reason I am able to announce tonight that suitable ceremonies will be held in each of the six places mentioned, that is, Edmonton, where Mr. Muller will speak; Grande Prairie, where Dr. Crow will speak; Andrew, where Mr. Tanner will speak; Rocky Mountain House, where Mr. Fallow will speak; and Killam, where Mr. Low will speak and St. Paul, where Mr. Maynard will speak.

Stays In U.S.

"They will be assisted by the M.L.A.s of these districts."

"They will take place on Friday at two o'clock in the afternoon."

"In the evening of the same day, Friday, there will be a broadcast province-wide over CFCN from Calgary and CFCN from Edmonton. Six treasury branches will then be open to receive deposits."

CHANCE MEETING HOURS
The Premier announced that next Sunday there would be a chance in the hours of the Bible Conference meetings.

He said that "owing to the change in the daylight saving time our broadcasts will begin hereafter during the fall and winter season at 8:15 p.m. instead of at 8:30 as it has been. We are sorry that this change has had to be made but it is entirely to the claims of the CBC program. Next Sunday night, instead of at eight o'clock, our meeting will begin at 8:30 and the broadcast will begin at 8:30. Mr. Manning will be in charge of the program and will continue his study of the stars."

Boys Will Protect Wild Life Through Whitemud District

Sixteen boys of the Whitemud Creek area between 12 and 16 years of age have banded together and declared themselves protectors of wild life, and are wearing a badge in the form of a bird. This year's class of boys with guns who destroy birds and other species of wild life in the district.

The boys, who call themselves the "Vigilantes," have regular patrol over the trails keeping constant watch on the enemies of the wild life.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON
When one debaucher rises to the heights of brilliance it is a bitter blow to have his partner play a wooden Indian. That was what happened in the following deal. Of course he could not do it with his wound by delivering a few choice remarks after the hand was over, but these had no visible bearing on the score.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 club Pass 1 diamond 1 heart
2 diamonds Pass Pass Pass
West made his normal opening of the least king and, when West appeared, he could not be very sanguine about his chances.

East, the defender, was marked with considerable strength in spades and could hardly hold less than both the ace and king to justify his four diamond jump bid.

That was true, it appeared that only two tricks, in hearts, could be taken by the defender. Unless West could get in a club ruff for the setting trick, this might be a bad deal and then done. East could not possibly be put in lead in any suit except hearts and the defender would need the four top honors. East would need the ace of hearts and the king of spades.

There was one other ground for hope. West at the second trick without the trumps being known. He was delighted to see East play the ten. But a moment later the delight changed to one of horror when East recovered from the announcement of holding the trick with the ten spot, blindly led back a spade. From that point on the game was a mere formality.

East was not at all surprised in the proceedings. The declarer drew trumps and spent the hand cheerfully. "There goes the rubber!"

"You're a regular!" he said. "West replied, 'I suppose it never entered that alleged blind that I would not have done it.'"

"A club? Why, what good would that have done?"

"Oh, not much. I just would have ruffed it for the setting trick, that's all."

"Well, give what, how could I tell you were wild of clubs? I thought you were trying to put me in lead so that I could lead a spade through to my partner."

"Then you must think I'm an awful dealer," West asserted. "Do you mean to say that I would jeopardize the rubber for the mere hope of an extra 100 points? If by my wild play I had the ace-king of hearts and the ace or ace-queen of spades, how could I fail to lay down by three tricks, with a club suit like that fading me in dummy? And, anyway, I couldn't have had the ace of spades! Any player in the world except a prima donna would be so stupid as to do that!"

Personally, I think I would have been a good deal more on my feet for West. In fact, I think I'll speak back to the girls and view several times over for his irreparable argument.

Likewise, people were warned not to engage in certain kinds of business, travel and countless other things.

Modern science has shown that certain signs of the Zodiac. Modern almanacs have dropped much of the old-time superstitions and warnings. Some of them even predicted the coming of the year in advance.

PASTORS TAKE VITAL TOPICS FOR SERMONS

"Design For Living," "Where God and Man Meet," Are Subjects

"Design For Living," sermon topic taken by Rev. C. G. Stone, of First Baptist, and "Where God and Man Meet," the subject chosen by Rev. Ross K. Cameron, of First Presbyterian, featured sermons delivered in city churches last morning and evening services Sunday.

"There is considerable aversion among men of taste to some aspects of evangelical religion," Rev. Cameron declared at the morning service. "One of the phases, against which men revolt is 'the blood of Christ,' and true life has been misused and hardened into grotesque and revolting dogma, but we can never part with it, for it is very sacred and very simple and very deep."

MEETING PLACE

It keeps Christians from becoming superficial and commonplace in life is the meeting place of God and man on the ground of God's self-sacrifice. The blood of Christ is the life of Christ, Mr. Cameron further stated.

"When man in his extremity considers the line that is passed between the life full of death and words which have passed from his mouth and mouth, he can never touch again; there is one great yearning... the forgiveness of sin, and when a man sincerely seeks that, there is only one word which can be said: 'Jesus Christ died for you, you are made new in the blood of Christ,' he concluded.

FIRST BAPTIST

At First Baptist church Rev. Stone spoke of a "design for living" Sunday evening, when he urged the necessity of having a purpose in life. Taking his text from St. Paul's words, "I must have a goal," he said that Paul had a statesman's vision; that he saw Rome with its huge centers and seeming population, as a field for Christianity, and he kept pushing forward until he had finally arrived at the eternal city, which was the goal of his devotion.

"Using the phrase, 'Has Hitler Got You Down?'" Mr. Stone said, "it is in the present day conditions with their threat of war, it is difficult for people to look forward in their work with enthusiasm."

He referred to the fact that the brutality of present day war campaign has shocked the senses of the people, and that there is a senseless prevailing amongst the masses which made it difficult to have an eager desire for life. Nevertheless, this is a prime necessity in the case of Paul. It gave direction and strength and happiness to one's life, the minister continued.

METROPOLITAN

At Metropolitan United church Rev. J. P. Berry spoke at the morning service and Rev. J. T. Stephens at the evening. "Epiphany of the Eternal" was the subject chosen by Rev. O. B. Lavers of Nemoys when he preached at Metropolitan United church on Sunday morning, and "The Pursuit of Peace" was the evening subject.

Knox United church heard Rev. George Macdonald when he spoke of "Breaking Barriers" in the morning and "The Inner Dynamic" in the evening. Rev. D. C. Ramsey spoke at Garsneau United church Sunday evening on "The Green Tree and the Dry."

ROBERTSON

Rev. K. C. McLeod, B.A. of Manitowish directed a public worship both morning and evening at Robertson United church.

Jewish New Year message was broadcast from Talmud Torah hall Sunday afternoon. Holy Communion was celebrated Sunday morning at All Saints cathedral and Rev. C. G. Stone spoke on "The Kingdom of God in the Morning." Rev. E. D. Bachelder took the pulpit at St. John's evening.

"A Life Without Worries," was the subject of the sermon of Rev. C. S. Lysie of Central Lutheran church in the morning.
